

WE 09.11.18

The first full week of November has been a busy one for all of us at Horringer Court.

On Monday evening, we had our Year 8 Parents Evening. It was good to see such a healthy turnout despite it being Bonfire Night. On Wednesday night, we had our first Dance Performance of the year. I was thoroughly impressed with all the students who took part especially so with the students who are new to the school and those that do not particularly relish performing in front of an audience. I hope you enjoyed the performance if you were one of the many who attended. Today we had our annual Service of Remembrance. Students listened to readings from the House Captains, the Last Post and then a two-minute silence was observed. It was a poignant and thought provoking event.

Looking ahead, we have another busy week. On Wednesday, we have a Year 7 drama morning. This is followed by our Open Evening between 6pm and 8pm. Our other open event, the Year 4 Taster Morning is on Saturday 17th November. I would encourage you to attend the Open Evening and see some of the great work that goes on at Horringer Court.

Enjoy your weekend,

Mr Palmer
